Chairman's Message

With an extensive and storied history embodied in a larger-than-life collection the Neon Museum has, in short order, become one of the most interesting and talked about attractions in the world. In many ways, Las Vegas' neon history is a reflection of our country's history, and the Museum Board and Staff are working daily, not only to protect and preserve it for you and future generations, but to bring it to life as well.

This year marked significant milestones in several categories including attendance, education and world-wide publicity. The Museum's tremendous progress is a testament to the dedicated staff and docents who on a daily basis tell the Las Vegas story to visitors locally and from around the world. And it's our intention to ensure that the Museum becomes an even more outstanding institution in the future. I would be remiss if I didn't ask you to please consider supporting the museum's mission by joining online today---simply click here to become a museum member now.

On behalf of the entire Board of Directors, thanks for your support.

Executive Director's Message

The Neon Museum is a multi-faceted monument to one of the world's most fascinating cities and the art form it made famous. Simultaneously interpreting art, architecture, design, advertising and history, we are dedicated to illuminating Las Vegas' iconic visual culture.

With each passing year, and with the support of a vibrant international community of donors and partners, we have been able to transform our dreams into reality. FY14 saw dramatic growth in all areas, from educational engagement and retail development to event rentals and film/photo shoots. The Museum secured the support of two individual donors in the restoration of the Liberace and Jerry's Nugget signs. And, with grant support from the Las Vegas Centennial Commission, we were able to renovate a former storage lot into a wonderful new venue for educational initiatives, event rentals, and commercial photography. All while supporting a 94% growth in attendance year over year. Social media has allowed us to not only grow our Neon Family, but stay in touch with our many friends throughout the Las Vegas Valley and around the globe.

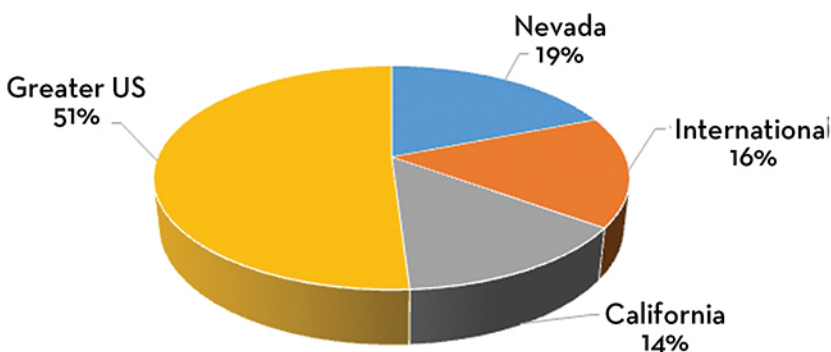

The Neon Museum has come so very far since its inception in 1996. On behalf of the entire Museum Board of Trustees, Staff and Volunteers: thank you. Thank you for believing in us and our mission and thank you for helping us grow. With your continued support, our greatest successes are yet to come.
